TENDERS ASKED FOR DREDGING IN INNER HARBOR

In Preparation for Assembly Plant at Ogden Point Docks; Specifications Call for Work Near Cameron's Wharf.

Tenders for the dredging of approximately 27,000 yards from the waterway in front of lumber and coal wharves in Victoria Harbor are now being called by the Federal Department of Public Works, it was learned to-day.

The specifications call for the removal of 16,773 cubic yards from in front of the Cameron Lumber Company's wharf above the new bascule bridge; 12,210 cubic yards from the waterway in front of the Lemon & Gonnason mill; and 6,440 yards from in front of the new wharf of the Walter Walker Coal Company, south of the railway bridge.

Tenders are made returnable at noon on Tuesday, August 18, daylight-saving time being specified in consideration of eastern provinces, where that time is in effect. The announcement made to-day by the local office of the Dominion Public Works is supported by advertisements setting out the details of the conditions under which tenders are asked. Figures given by those who tender must include the towing to and from work of any plant used, it is stated.

The dredging work thus forecast for the immediate future is in preparation for the lumber assembly plant mooted for the Ogden Point pier, it is here understood. Now on his way to the coast is Hon. J. H. King, Federal Minister of Public Works, from whom an important announcement is looked upon his arrival at Victoria.

IMMEDIATE EFFECT
The immediate effect of the dredging work to be done in the waterway of Victoria's inner harbor and thereby give great scope for the handling of lumber loading vessels, and particularly ships now loading at the wharves, is making use of the scow method of transit to bring their lumber alongside. If the assembly plant is carried into effect, this move service would be redoubled and keep in steady operation piling up stocks and standard graded lumber at Ogden Point.

The facility is one used by lumbermen for some time past, and in this they have the support of the shipping interests who see that the facility would be one of great potential development for the harbor. Though there is nothing in the announcement made by the Dominion Public Works officials here to-day to indicate that the dredging is in direct relation to the proposed project, that is the general impression taken by local lumber and transportation men from the news. The arrival of Dr. King from Ottawa is awaited in view of the development. Meanwhile tenders are advised by advertisements being carried in all Canadian papers to-day of the work on foot and asked to view the specifications to be seen at the various offices of the Department of Public Works.

BANK OF ENGLAND REDUCES ITS RATE

Announcement of Cut to Four and a Half Per Cent Came as Surprise

Funds Have Been Accumulating in London; Much Gold Has Come in London, Aug. 6.—The rate of the Bank of England has been reduced to 4½ per cent from five per cent, which rate prevailed since March of this year.

While the monetary situation had eased considerably in the last few weeks, the bank's decision of a reduction in the bank rate, the market was scarcely prepared for the surprise announcement from the central institution this morning that the official minimum had been reduced to 4½ per cent. Funds have been steadily accumulating in Lombard Street through the release of government dividends and capital which ordinarily is hoarded, now is largely dormant owing to the trade depression. This weakened the discount market to below 4½ per cent for three-month bills.

There has also been an influx of gold to the bank from various sources since the return to the gold standard, due to concerted action by the Federal Reserve Bank and the United States, the German Reichsbank and the Bank of England, arranged by the authorities of those institutions when the return to the gold standard was being planned.

Halifax, Aug. 6.—The British Empire Steel Corporation to-day advised Premier Rhodes it had accepted the Nova Scotia Government's proposals for settlement of the coal strike which has tied up production in this province since last February. The miners yesterday voted to return to work under the Government's proposals.

In a telegram from Montreal to the Provincial Premier, Roy Wolvin, president of the corporation, announced his company's decision to accept the Government's proposals, "wholly to avoid further disaster to the province and on your representations that it is for the general benefit of the people of Nova Scotia."

SIX-YEAR SENTENCE FOR BANK ROBBER

London, Ont., Aug. 5.—Leslie Hathaway, twenty-seven years old, former bank employee and auto salesman, was sentenced to-day by Deputy Magistrate F. W. Gladman to six years in the Kingston penitentiary for the holdup and robbery of the Bank of Montreal branch in Thornedale June 3.

Hathaway took his sentence calmly.

Mrs. Hathaway, who was present, fainted when the sentence was pronounced. She was unconscious for some time. Her condition is considered serious. The prisoner will be removed to the penitentiary immediately. Hathaway admitted the crime. He was arrested in Toronto two weeks ago, having traveled there with a view to finding some of the stolen money.

NOW SUGGESTED CANADA'S MARITIME PROVINCES BE MADE INTO ONE PROVINCE

Montreal, Aug. 6.—The French language newspaper Le Canada to-day said editorially: "More and more interest is being taken in the suggestion that one province should be made of the three Maritime Provinces. The Maritime Provinces together represent only a population of 1,900,000 and the territory is very small in comparison with the other Canadian provinces, yet there are three Provincial Governments to direct their affairs. That represents annually a large sum of money swallowed up by the civil service of each province and by the parliamentary machinery of each one."

Injunction Clouds Horizon, Mayor Arouses Opposition

Threats of the law's delays already hovering over the absorption of the Goldstream waterworks system by Victoria city, objects to Mayor Pendray's action asserting their intention to apply to the courts for an injunction against applying the city's credit for duplication of the city's water supply.

CITY SEIZES ESQUIMALT WATERWORKS

Mayor Orders Expropriation of Rival Water Supply

Cost is $1,540,000 to be Paid By Timber Sales and Earnings

Acting upon instructions from Mayor Carl Pendray, Water Commissioner F. M. Preston has taken possession of the Goldstream Waterworks assets of the Esquimalt Waterworks Company as from August 1, the net price to be paid by Victoria for the properties concerned being approximately $1,047,000, expected to be paid from earnings of the system.

Yesterday afternoon Mayor Pendray called into consultation at the City Hall all the aldermen available in the city, and notified them of the action taken, some of the Aldermen expressing amazement at the city's action.

Negotiations as to transfer terms have been proceeding for weeks past. It was not until Tuesday afternoon that affairs came to a head. Understanding that the city's two largest customers, Oak Bay and Saanich, were on the point of presenting to the Esquimalt Waterworks Company a proposition to transfer connections to the private corporation, with a guarantee from a company of not less than $25,000 yearly, Mayor Pendray decided that expropriation of the Esquimalt company was imperative.

In view of reports, highly recommending taking over the property at the tentatively agreed price, into the consequences of a stoppage in the water supply, the City Controller Macdonald and Acting City Solicitor Harrison.

Decision on Mental Condition of Condemned Man in Chicago Awaited

Chicago, Aug. 6.—The jury which is to decide whether Russell Scott is sane and is to be hanged or is insane and is to be confined in an asylum, received the case and began its deliberations at 4:27 o'clock to-day.

The state has used fifteen witnesses to prove the sanity of Scott. The testimony of five alienists constituted the case for the defence. W. W. O'Brien attacked the expert testimony of the state and told the jury that the fifteen-minute examination of Scott on which the doctors based their opinion was unfair and ridiculous.

"They sat there at the witness stand and I saw that they were not taking any notice of the evidence, but I will say under the law it was said for."

STORM IN ONTARIO CAUSED DEATH AND PROPERTY LOSSES

Boy of Fifteen Was Killed at Park Hill, Fires in City of London

London, Ont., Aug. 6.—A severe electrical storm swept over Southwestern Ontario late yesterday afternoon and last night. Reports tell of damage to life and considerable property loss by fires started by lightning. In some sections, where the rain was accompanied by hail, there was a great deal of damage to crops. The victims of lightning was Angus McIntosh, aged fifteen, who with his father, J. D. McIntosh of Park Hill, Ont., had taken refuge from the rain under a tree. The father was stunned. The heaviest loss from fire was in the city of London, where the London Box Company's plant and adjoining stables and lumber yards were completely destroyed, causing a loss of about $500,000. # Greatest Group of Grain Men in Europe Will Operate Own Lighter System From Mainland to 500,000-bushel Elevator at Ogden Point Docks.

Marking another strikingly important step in the port expansion of Victoria announcement is made that a second elevator for the Ogden Point docks is virtually assured. It will be a 500,000-bushel elevator erected by the greatest group of grain men in Europe who expect to control forty-five per cent of the Western movement of prairie grain to the Pacific Coast. Work on the elevator is expected to start in December.

The syndicate will operate its own lighters from the Mainland to Victoria and install machinery for direct loading from the elevator to the boats.

OFFICIALS SAY MEN STARTED FOREST FIRES

Investigations Made at Points in British Columbia to Learn Truth

Belief Expressed Guilty Men Obtained Employment Fighting Flames

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—Investigations are being conducted by police and forestry officers to determine the truth of well-founded suspicion that forest fires have been set in British Columbia by men for the pay they would receive from fighting the out- (Continued on page 2)

When valuable stands of merchantable timber are threatened with destruction all able-bodied men in the vicinity who are available are mustered by the forestry service to combat the menace. In this way, it is believed, men who started the first forest fires have obtained employment.

FIGHTERS REORGANIZE

The Jackson Bay fire, breaking off the Port Neville blaze, broke away from control this morning and, whipped into fury by a strong westerly breeze, spread on the mountain through an old burn. The fire fighters reorganized and rushed their forces along the green timber line, abandoning their stand along the old fire trail. They are preparing to struggle in an effort to save another way of millions of feet of British Columbia's best cedar and fir.

ARE BACKFIRING

Assisted by 200 loggers recruited from camps in the locality, Major C. S. Cowan, district forester, to-day is conducting a battle against a wall of fire about twenty miles inland from Stillwater. Backfiring for a considerable distance is being attempted, and upon its success depends the fate of millions of feet of British Columbia's best cedar and fir.

UNDER CONTROL

One thousand acres in the vicinity of the Birkenhead River, near Mile 70 on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, were swept by a fire which has been brought under control by a crew of forty men, with the exception of a burn on a mountain through which the railway runs. About 600 acres burned.

Reports received in Vancouver state about 600 acres of green timber, of which 300 acres was very valuable, has been burned by the fire. The fire is on the C.P.R. main line, ninety miles east of here. Firefighters are having much difficulty, and it is stated that in the event of a strong wind, further damage would be done.

CHICAGO MAN WAS MURDERED

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Otto Berndt, sixty-three, secretary-treasurer of the Lindsay Light Company, was shot and killed to-day by Joseph Puche, forty-five, a porter, as he sat in the company's office. The cause was not learned.

Puche was smiling when arrested and refused to believe he had killed Berndt.

Railways Ready To Move Harvest Men To Prairies

Montreal, Aug. 6.—With the crops in Quebec nearly all in and those in Ontario well on the way to being harvested, a considerable number of expert harvesters will be released for the work of garnering the crops in the Prairie Provinces. Meanwhile, the railways are being inundated, the 50,000 harvesters needed, as the eastern Canada's quota towards the bringing of the crops to the prairies are being encouraged. Ample trains are at present putting the finishing touches on the shipping of the wheat. The railways are making ample arrangements for the handling of the army of 50,000 men. Assembling of cars to move the harvesters has been under way for some time and everything is now practically ready for the movement of the first batch of harvesters to the prairies.

August 11 will be the first date of the movement on the railways. The trains then scheduled will move men east of Levis, Megantic and the Maritime Provinces. The next train will leave August 14 and will carry harvesters from Levis, Megantic, Quebec City and points west within the Province of Quebec. Those from Toronto and Eastern Ontario will start August 18, and from Toronto and Western Ontario August 21.

FAITH IN VICTORIA

The announcement follows long negotiations with Valentine Quinn, representative of the capitalists mentioned and is an evidence of experts in the business of Victoria as a grain port. Following on the heels of the news that the first elevator will be erected by the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Limited, and that the Dominion Government will establish the lumber assembly plant and barge ferry connection with the terminal to the Ogden Point dock it has created considerable optimism in business circles.

The syndicate planning the second elevator here will also erect an elevator at New Westminster on a site secured on favorable terms, and have made the proposition to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, which embraces the erection of a 500,000 bushel elevator here to be operated in connection with the New Westminster elevator.

CONFERENCE SATURDAY

The object of the establishment of the elevator in Victoria is to take care of distress parcel shipments which investigation has proved to be of such volume as to warrant operation of a second plant by the syndicate represented by Mr. Quinn. Negotiations have been in progress for a long time between Mr. Quinn, C. P. W. Schwengers, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce; B. C. Nicholas, vice-president; Max J. Carl Pendray and Ald. M. F. Blair, chairman of the Industrial Group of the Chamber of Commerce. A tentative proposition was discussed nearly a year ago before Mr. Quinn left for England to organize his company. The arrangement made between Mr. Quinn and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce brings the matter near to the point of closure. A conference is to take place Saturday at the Chamber of Commerce rooms between Mr. Quinn, Sir Henry Thornton, Mayor Pendray, Mr. Schwengers, Mr. Nicholas and Ald. Blair, at which it is expected the final details will be completed.

The arrangement arrived at is in some degree contingent upon the successful outcome of negotiations between the Panama Pacific Terminal elevator and the city. The principle involved in these negotiations is common to both propositions. The projects herald what it is confidently predicted will be the beginning of many other grain elevators for Victoria, and its establishment as a wheat port.

AS GRAIN PORT

The establishment of the first elevator means the shipping and transportation facilities which have been arranged on their behalf by Henry Thornton and the Dominion Government will assure the same opportunities for the Quinn proposition. The recognition by the great grain elevator company of the fact that Mr. Quinn of Victoria as a grain port is quoted as an unanswerable argument to critics doubting the feasibility of elevator projects here. ## RE LORD HAIG'S SCHEME OF AMALGAMATION

To the Editor.—Referring to Earl Haig's scheme of amalgamation it appears that there is some misunderstanding amongst the unorganized ex-service men in Victoria upon this question.

We note that at a meeting of the other evening the intention was expressed of forming a branch of the British Empire Service League with the view of bringing into effect Lord Haig's scheme, and thus making a start in Victoria.

An initial start has already been made in Victoria by forming a unit committee consisting of delegates from every known ex-service association in the city. The G.W.V.A., the T.B. Veterans' Association and the Canadian Legion local branches have signified their intention of supporting there at the Dominion convention in joining the new unit body when it comes into existence, so that we now have already three potential points in Victoria of the British Legion in Canada, or whatever name the new unit body may adopt. No doubt as soon as the committee can arrive at a decision the remaining associations in Victoria will express themselves as willing to become parts of the unit organization that will be formed in the near future. This will then mean that we will have possibly six or more posts of the unit Dominion organization in the city of Victoria.

By joining any of these posts the unorganized ex-service men become a component part of the unit body, and will be supporting Lord Haig's scheme of unity.

The existing ex-service organizations do not assist in the attempt to join the unorganized ex-service men must join one of the present branches of the various associations, because there is nothing to prevent existing associations forming a post of their own in the unit body, although it should be pointed out that such action only means increasing the number of posts that will be in existence in Victoria when the unit is complete.

The branch that might be formed in the City of Victoria will not be a branch of the British Empire Service League, but will simply be a post of the federated body.

When it comes into existence, and when it comes into existence, the powers shall be any of the other posts in Victoria.

The British Empire Service League is composed of delegates from the Dominion, the British Empire, and the league, has as far as we know, no individual branches in the different cities in the Empire.

The present unit committee in Victoria would no doubt welcome representation upon their committee, and we think that any action that might be taken in Victoria to support the formation of a unit body should be a joint one, as nothing is to be gained by forming additional organizations.

China Treaties Are Now in Force

Washington, Aug. 6.—Four years of delay in making effective the proposals of the Washington Arms Conference for peaceful clarification of the situation in the Far East ended yesterday when ratifications of the two nine-power treaties respecting China were formally deposited at the State Department.

One treaty provides increased customs levies to stabilize the Peking Government, and the other pledges signatory and adhering governments to a code of principles to govern their action toward China. The Chinese Minister, Dr. Alfred Sze, described the latter treaty as an adaptation of the Monroe Doctrine to China. He hailed the ratification of the two treaties as a diplomatic triumph of the Washington Government, because they were expressions of the United States policy.

SEATTLE COUNCIL CUTS EXPENDITURES

Reductions in Estimates Total $1,300,000; Increase in Police Force Refused

Policemen Lose Right of Riding Free on Cars of Municipal Street Railway

Seattle, Aug. 6.—Landing heavily on the Police department's proposed budget, denying any increase whatever in its personnel and discontinuing the privilege of free rides on the street cars for policemen, the Seattle City Council budget-makers yesterday continued their assaults on departmental estimates for 1926, increasing to $1,300,000 the aggregate amount of reductions ordered.

PRUNING QUICKLY DONE

A survey of the pruning done during the council's brief consideration of the police department's estimate, little more than an hour being spent in the trimming process, showed the following major decisions reached:

Cuts aggregating $232,980 in the $1,652,512 total estimate submitted by Chief Severson, leaving $1,419,532. Rejection of a request by the chief for three additional sergeants and 148 patrolmen, representing a budget increase of $292,920.

Postponement of action on a petition by Chief Severson that his salary be increased from $4,800 a year to $5,000.

PROTESTS FROM POLICE

The steps taken by the councilmen brought protests from Chief Severson, Inspector J. T. Mason and the captains from headquarters and the various precincts, who were plainly aghast at the extent of the council's action.

"We must have the additional patrolmen in order properly to police the city," Chief Severson told the council. "Our precinct captains will tell you these men are needed in order to keep the beats in the residence districts."

"Seattle's police force is small, compared with other cities. Kansas City and Indianapolis, which have about Seattle's population, have 700 policemen. In Seattle we have only 556."

PASSES WERE ISSUED

Of all the decisions reached by the council on the police estimate, the one most strenuously opposed by officials of the department present was that cutting off free rides for policemen on the city's street cars.

Since the city's street car street railway system, both policemen and firemen have ridden free being required only to show a pass issued by the public utility commission.

YEARLY APPROPRIATION

At a convention for this service, the City Council has each year made a lump sum appropriation from the police and fire department funds to the city railway for the purpose of this service. The appropriation of $30,000 from his budget for this purpose, the same amount as allowed last year.

The council also reduced this appropriation to $5,000, at the same time declaring passes should be discontinued and members of the police department required to pay for their rides. Afterward funds being allowed from the $5,000 fund provided, reimbursement for such trips as are performed on actual police duty.

It was indicated that the members of the police department, when their salaries came up, would likewise lose their passes.

PRETTY WEDDING AT
DUNCAN WEDNESDAY

Miss Elizabeth Hopkins Became Bride of James M.
Greaves

(Special to The Times)
Duncan, Aug. 5.—A very pretty wedding took place at St. John's Church, Duncan, on Wednesday afternoon, when the Rev. F. G. Christmas united in marriage Elizabeth Maude Evered, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hopkins, and James Mitchell Greaves, son of Captain and Mrs. H. B. Greaves, both of Duncan. The church was prettily decorated by the bride's sisters and friends, Misses Nell Blythe, Kathleen Townsend, Margaret Burchett, Eva Steppney, Madeline Greaves and Margaret Hopkins, with white and yellow flowers, and a very beautiful large white bell, the work of Mrs. W. de Hopkins, under which the wedding party stood. The bride, who was given in marriage by her aunt, Miss M. E. Wilson of the Cliffs, Duncan, made a lovely picture in a beautiful dress of white moiré with white ribbon and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas, Ophelia roses and cyclamen. She was attended by her little cousin Dorothy Innes Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Innes Hopkins, Vancouver, who looked very sweet in a dainty little frock of white silk, a wreath of pink flowers on her hair and carrying a basket of sweet peas.
Mr. M. L. Salt of Victoria acted as best man, and Mrs. F. G. Christmas officiated as organist. After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the Cliffs, the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, R. E. Wilson and Miss M. E. and Maud Wilson.
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Greaves left on their honeymoon, the bride traveling in a handsome tailored dress of champagne colored silk embroidered in brown, a very becoming white straw hat and white flannel coat.
The happy couple will reside in Victoria.
Mr. Greaves (Jim, as he is known to all his friends) is a veteran of the Great War, having served with the 4th Canadian Regiment.

Entertainment Given Under Auspices of Elks

(Special to The Times)
Duncan, Aug. 5.—A full house greeted the first performance of "The Beauty Shop," presented by about fifty of Duncan's talented amateurs in the Capitol Theatre on Tuesday evening. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Duncan Lodge, No. 49, B.P.O. Elks, and directed and managed by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lewis of Chicago.
The plot centres around Dr. Budd, owner of the Beauty Shop, and his ward Anna, whose rich uncle has died in Corsica, and in order to get the money for his ward, Dr. Budd, with Anna and his lawyer, "Briggs," journey to Corsica. On arrival there, however, it turns out that the uncle has been assassinated, and according to the laws of a vendetta the assassin's family must first slay the assassin or be himself killed. How to avoid this unpleasant prospect, he promises to marry Natalie, Maldonado's homely daughter, how Natalie's lover, Maldonado, causes trouble, and how Dr. Budd makes Natalie beautiful with his beauty preparations, as much to his own astonishment as everyone else's, and how it "all comes right in the end," is well worked out.
Murid Wade as Anna, Dr. Budd's ward, was excellent in the part, and her singing and acting were very charming. Madeline Payne made a very pretty secretary, and her task of keeping Dr. Budd's angry creditors and her lover, Daniel Webster Briggs (R. C. Mainway) under control was well performed. Mrs. Tanner as a "stout customer," Beatrice Bannerman as Natalie, and A. D. Martinich as Phil Faraday, Anna's lover, provided the humor of the piece and carried out their parts to perfection. Mrs. Coyne, Dolorosa, a souvenir girl, gained enthusiastic applause for her song "Carissima," as also did Mrs. F. Rutledge in "The Tale of the Mermaid." Mrs. R. O. Gore-Langton as Lola, a Spanish dancer, looked just as pretty and sang as sweetly as she always did as "Eddie Bevan," and her Apache dance with R. E. Macbeane made a decided hit. The duet also between Mrs. F. Rutledge and C. A. Johnson, "Carita," was most excellently rendered and well deserved the hearty encore it received. Bernard F. Burrows as the duellist, Carambo Maldonado, is also well worthy of mention, and he filled a difficult part, which might easily have been overdone, with great skill and restraint.
Mrs. R. King kindly assisted with all the choruses and her lovely voice was heard to great advantage in the solo "My Tango Queen," which introduced the dance by Lola and Macbeane. Allie MacDonald, as Gladys, custodian of the shop; Mrs. J. T. Brown as Miss Montrosency, a customer; C. W. O'Neill, as Panatella, Sharp, chairman of creditors; R. S. A. Jackson as Garabaldi Panatella, Corsican innkeeper; John Dick as Lagubrio Sobini, an assassin; H. Plankett as the chauffeur, and Claude O. Bell as a "Gob," all took their parts well.
The gowns worn by the society ladies and the wigs in the first act were supplied by Scurrah's Limited, Victoria.
The musical numbers were:
Act 1.—"In a Beauty Shop," opening chorus; "I Want to Look Like Mary Garden," Vivian and chorus; "Come Along," Vivian, Anna, Briggs and Phil; "Saturday Afternoon on Broadway," Budd and chorus; "Love's Hesitation," Anna and Phil; "When the Creditors Come to Call," Budd and Creditors; "All Dressed Up and No Place to Go," Dr. Budd; "Poor Uncle Gamszus," ensemble.
Act 2.—In Corsica, Panatella, Maldonado and chorus; "Carissima," Dolorosa; "Carmencita," R. E. Macbeane; "Carita," Mrs. Rutledge and C. W. Johnson; "She Loves All the Boys in the World," Lola and Johnnies; "The Apache," Lola and dancer; "Twins in September," Vivian and Briggs; "I Love You Just the Same," Lola, Budd, Briggs, "King Out Belts," ensemble.
Act 3.—"The Fishing Fleet is Home," ensemble; "The Tale of the Mermaid," Mrs. Rutledge; "The Sailors' Hornpipe," the Sailorettes; "My Tango Queen," Mrs. King; "We'll Go Back Home," finale.
After telling his pupils that the equator was an imaginary line running round the middle of the earth, the teacher was surprised, a few days later, to hear that one of the "dangers" of the tropics was the equator.
"Why do you say that, John?" he asked.
"Please, sir," replied John, "you said it was a menagerie lion, and if it's running all round the middle of the earth it must be dangerous, 'cos it's not caged up!"

TELE OFFER TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Innocent Men Agree to be Executed Publicly in Fight to Abolish Electrocutation

Washington, D.C., Aug. 6.—Twelve old men of this city are seeking death by electrocution.
They have asked permission to die in the electric chair as a protest against capital punishment.
If the plans of the Prisoners' Relief Society here go through, their wishes will be fulfilled.
The society is planning to stage a "capital punishment" exhibition at which the twelve will be victims.
Most prominent of the volunteers is Dr. Walter C. Murphy, practicing physician in Washington for fifty-five years.
"The state has the right to take a man's life," he said, "but it has no right to torture him before he dies."
As a doctor, I know that the electric chair is the most horrible torture conceivable.
LIKE A DENTIST'S DRILL
"Imagine a dentist's drill run into all the nerves of your teeth and then imagine that pain all through your body instead of only in your mouth, and you will have some idea of how its victims suffer."
"I feel that if the people could only see the terrible agonies of a man being electrocuted they would soon abolish the practice."
"That is why I am willing—even anxious to sacrifice myself as an example."
The movement was started by G. P. McGraw, aged philanthropist, who made known his desires to Dr. E. E. Dudding, Prisoners' Relief president.
In explaining the reason for his strange request he told how he had been convicted of murder and sentenced to death in Ohio more than thirty years ago.
"I appealed the case, won a new trial, and was finally acquitted," he said.
"But the shadow of my trial still hung over me in the town where I lived. I was completely ostracized. It was the church and the people would get up and leave the pew where I sat."
"Finally I changed my name and moved away. Then my wife died and my son was killed in France in the World War."
"Now I am old. I have nothing left to live for. But I would like to do some act that would help mankind."
The other ten would-be victims, all over eighty, have requested that their names be withheld until plans for their execution have been completed.
ALL WILLING TO DIE
"These men all mean what they say," Dudding declared. "They are willing and anxious to die for the cause."
"As to our capital punishment exhibition, which we plan to hold the second week in December, I am now negotiating with the Washington Auditorium for the use of the theatre. The Baptist Church and First Congregational Church for a place to stage it."
"We plan to have twelve electric chairs on the platform, with one under victim in each. They will be electrocuted one by one."
"I have written to the Attorney-General asking for a ruling on whether such an exhibition may be held."
"But if he rules against it, we will go right ahead with our plans. I believe that these men, all fully cured and in the right mind, have the right to take this action if they wish."

CHURCHILL DEFENDS
NEW GOLD STANDARD

London, Aug. 6.—Britain's return to the gold standard, which during recent weeks has drawn forth a swelling though discordant chorus of adverse criticism from various sources, was staunchly defended in the House of Commons yesterday by Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer.
Unquestionably, Mr. Churchill declared, the gold standard affected everything to a certain degree, and a gold standard, not of the pound sterling, but of the dollar.
The Chancellor said he was cognizant of the growing tide of criticism and propaganda against the gold standard, but he pointed out that the critics disagreed among themselves and that no political party had challenged the Government to action. The Government was "entirely unopposed."

The immediate inspiration of the Chancellor's statement was a speech by Lee Smith, a Labor member, who said the return to the gold standard was more responsible than anything else for the recent increase in unemployment. It meant, he declared, that in order to compete abroad, exporters must reduce their export prices ten per cent to offset the ten per cent rise in the value of the pound sterling. No relief was given by a corresponding decrease in internal prices.
Mr. Smith criticized the Bank of England and its financial allies for placing an embargo upon foreign and Dominion loans instead of taking the usual remedy—raising the bank rate. Everybody, he declared, knew that the Australian Government had been told to raise its money in New York and not in Great Britain.

Enumerating the advantages which had accrued from the redemption of the gold standard, Mr. Churchill said the money rate had been raised, the equilibrium with the Australian and South African exchanges had been established, these exchanges being on a par with the pound sterling instead of at a premium as formerly. France had based her new gold loan on the pound instead of on the dollar and an approximate equal level had been brought about as regards wholesale prices in the United States and Great Britain.
As for the coal subsidy agreed to as a solution of the controversy between the miners and mineowners, Mr. Churchill declared that although everybody was aware it was objectionable, it was much more desirable than a direct subsidy on exports achieved at the expense of the whole of the community.

WAR CLAIMS HEARD
IN CITY OF REGINA
Regina, Aug. 6.—Two claims for lives lost on the Lusitania, and one for a collection of pictures secured under commission of the Canadian War Memorial Commission, were among the eight presented to the Canadian War Claims Commission here yesterday.
Ingalls Sheldon Williams was the artist who presented the claim for his work lost by enemy action at sea. The pictures were intended to be hung in the House of Commons at Ottawa. He claims $4,000.
Mrs. Gertrude Alice Downey, now of Winnipeg, is claiming $38,000 for the loss of her husband on the Lusitania. She has two children, aged 10 and 12, for each of her two daughters in respect of the loss of her husband on the same ship.
Katherine Michael of Montclair, N.J., who now lives in California, asks $28,777 for the loss of his son, personal injuries to his wife, and family and loss of his property in Arizona.

MINE STRIKE FIGHT
IN WELSH REGION

Amanford, Wales, Aug. 6.—There was another severe riot last night in this anthracite region, where the miners are on strike. Several hundred strikers attacked a colliery with a view to compelling the pumpers and other safety workmen to quit their posts. They were met by a strong party of police guarding the works, and during the fighting, which lasted nearly three hours, the police commander and ten constables were severely wounded and many of the strikers badly hurt.
The strikers in their attack almost overwhelmed the police, but the guards charged with their clubs in the face of a veritable rain of missiles of all kinds. Reinforcements were hurried to the police in automobiles, but the fighting continued by the light of a blazing haystack, which the strikers set on fire.
A large crowd of sympathizers with the miners watched the battle.

ARMEN FROM U.S.
TO FIGHT IN MOROCCO

Paris, Aug. 6.—As plans are being developed by the French command in Morocco for a strategic offensive movement in the near future with a view to bringing the rebellious Rifians to terms, United States aviators are on their way to Morocco for service with the French aerial forces.
The overseas aviators, who volunteered for service "on the side of the Sultan of Morocco," left France for the battle zone yesterday, six of them going by aeroplane and five by train.
The situation in the Moroccan region, northwest of Fez, shows no modification. The enemy is strengthening his positions in Djebel and Sarsar. The French group which advanced from Mezerou toward the northwest met no opposition.
The principal operation executed by the French recently was in the region of Tafraut, forty miles almost direct South of Fez. It was designed to revictual French posts in the region and was fully successful.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR
TORONTO PHYSICIAN

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Found guilty on sixteen counts under the Narcotic Drug Act, Dr. Ezra Herbert Adams, a well known Toronto doctor, was fined $2,200 and sentenced to six months in jail by Magistrate Jones in city police court yesterday.

In sentencing the accused, Magistrate Jones said he had used the cloak of his profession to make money improperly by trafficking in narcotic drugs.
R. M. Green, K.C., counsel for the defence, gave notice of appeal and it is probable Dr. Adams will be given bail pending the decision of the higher court.

A NOVEL THEORY

DR. TOLMIE GAVE HIS audience something novel in the way of political economy at the Conservative picnic yesterday afternoon. He said his party proposed to reduce the cost of living in Canada by increasing the customs tariff. That is to say, it would bring down the prices of food, clothing and other necessities by putting more taxes on them. This leaves us with a distracting puzzle on our hands. If the object of the higher tariff Dr. Tolmie proposes to erect is to assist Canadian producers of the articles to which it is applied by providing them with larger profits, how can it cheapen the cost of those articles to the consumers? If it reduces the prices of the protected article to the buyers how can it protect the producer?

Dr. Tolmie ought to elaborate his unique proposition for the mere thrill of seeing where it will land him, if for no other reason. The spectacle also will amuse the public, who know out of costly experience that if an increase in the customs tariff on the necessities of life was not intended to increase the cost of those articles to them it would not be so vigorously advocated by the powerful elements who now want it. They would drop it like a hot potato. Does the Doctor seriously expect anybody to believe that the interests who demand "protection" in the way of higher customs duties and who have annexed Mr. Meighen and his party, are doing it for the sake of the general public?

We presume Dr. Tolmie also would say that a higher tariff on the implements of production would help British Columbia by cheapening the cost of those articles. He ought to try that argument on some mining or sawmill operator who has to pay through the nose for his machinery on account of this "protection" which, as a matter of fact, protects the few at the expense of the many. The high cost of machinery, largely as a result of customs duties, is one of the chief obstacles to the industrial development of this province. We are being penalized for the sake of certain interests centered east of the Great Lakes, and nobody knows this better than Dr. Tolmie.

THE GOLFING CARAVAN

IN PRACTICALLY EVERY part of this continent and in many parts of the Old World the fame of Victoria as an all-year-round golfing centre is now established. This is only one of the reasons why local goldfodm will take particular pleasure in extending a hearty welcome to the royal and ancient caravan which will arrive in this city from the neighboring republic to-morrow. Another reason is that the recent winner of the most coveted golfing crown is to be a member of the party—"Long Jim" Barnes. He will be partnered by "Jack" Hutchison, who has also the distinction of having won the British "open." Both these fine exponents of the great game learned their golf by the caddy route in Britain, Barnes having from Cornwall and Hutchison from St. Andrews, and they will be opposed to-morrow afternoon at the beautiful Colwood course by "Phil" Taylor and "Dave" Black, these two also having won the British "open" and also having from England and Scotland respectively. The battle will thus be between sterling British golfing products in the ideal golfing center of the British Empire. On a former occasion the Victoria-Vancouver pair subdued their international rivals on the thirty-fifth green at Oak Bay.

Much interest will also centre on the display of the amateurs who are accompanying the distinguished party. Mr. "Chick" Evans has played and written much golf. He is a product of Uncle Sam and has won the principal national honors of the United States. With him will be partnered Captain Ernest Carter, another Briton who is a former Irish open champion. Opposed to them will be three local amateurs who wielded their first club in the Old Land and developed their game in Victoria. Completing the caravan will be three hundred other golfers who will plead guilty to scores ranging all the way from the "late seventies" to the "early hundreds"—numbered among these are captains of industry, financiers, writers, economists, and men of considerable influence and repute in the friendly country to the South. Incidentally, it is a novel excursion, the first of its kind ever organized, and to The Golfers' Magazine of Chicago must go the credit for the enterprise. Victoria will surely leave its impress upon the visitors and they will find their golfing way with interesting recollections of our magnificent courses.

WHAT A CHANCE!

POLITICS IN GREAT Britain just now present an interesting study. The Conservative industrialists are annoyed with Mr. Baldwin over his capitulation to the mining industry. There is a sharp cleavage between the moderate and radical elements of the Labor Party. In the offing, as it were, still feeling the effects of Mr. Lloyd George's faulty generalship after the war, stands the Liberal Party—strong in the country, weak in the Commons, and more or less leaderless and rudderless. There is nevertheless in all this peculiar political hodge-podge a significant sign for Liberalism. The Prime Minister has created a precedent totally foreign to his Party's creed. No Labor ex-Minister, or any supporter of Labor ex-Ministers, will condone the actions of the "red" elements. Will Liberalism produce a virile leader, one who is able to pilot the ship over the shallow waters of Tory-Labor discussion? What a chance for the right man!

THE DOCTOR'S PREDICTION

ALTHOUGH DR. TOLMIE rides in the funeral political cortege led by the melancholy Mr. Meighen, in one respect he is an incorrigible optimist. He told his audience at the Conservative picnic yesterday that in the next election the Tories would capture all but half a dozen of the 82 Ontario seats, that Quebec was Conservative "in principle" and would give Mr. Meighen many followers, that the Conservative cause "had grown rapidly" in Manitoba, Alberta and the Maritime Provinces, and that all the 14 British Columbia seats would go to his party. We presume the Doctor means by this that Mr. Meighen will be returned with a majority in the next House of Commons. He now has 51 in a House of 235. The next House will have 245, which means that Mr. Meighen will have to gain 75 seats to have a majority. A large order, indeed. But then, we recall, Dr. Tolmie publicly declared in 1921 that the Tories would sweep the country—and they came back the smallest group in the House. There is this difference between the two predictions by the Doctor, however. Being comparatively new to politics in 1921 he actually believed his party was going to win. He is more sophisticated now, and therefore knows as well as anybody that his party has not the slightest chance of winning the next election.

NOT SOUND ARGUMENT

WE ARE NOW IN-formed by the morning paper that the British Isles can furnish Canada with all the migrants she needs. The weakness of this argument will be apparent to the most casual observer. In Great Britain at the present time there are something like 1,300,000 idle persons. Assuming that one-half of this number would make suitable settlers, and that another 650,000 could be drawn from the employed section of the country, that would give Canada an additional population of 1,300,000. It would bring into this Dominion, in other words, sufficient people to populate a city about the size of Greater Los Angeles. But it would also rob Great Britain to an extent that would cause a shortage of labor, for it must not be forgotten that in normal times there always has been a six-figure unemployment problem. A problem that will never be solved unless some scheme is devised that will remove the unemployable altogether.

Our morning contemporary also seems to forget that even if Great Britain consented to lose as many people as would dislocate the labor market, that exodus, in the natural course of events, would have to be divided between all the Dominions, at least between Canada and Australia. That would bring our share down to enough people to fill a city about the size of San Francisco. This share of British migrants would nevertheless be a godsend, and we shall not doubt get much of it after Mr. Meighen and his colleagues have dropped their blue ruin tactics. But the vital need of this country, which is more production, will not be satisfied until the doors of the Dominion are open to other peoples, apparently not rebuffed by our contemporary or the Conservative Party, who are white and healthy in mind and body. Then, and then only, shall we progress in proper measure and realize that development which has marked the progress of our neighbor to the South—progress to which the morning paper and Mr. Meighen point with such peculiar insistence as if it were a stigma on the record of the King Government. It is completely forgotten that successive administrations in this country have since Confederation have been endeavoring to populate Canada with Anglo-Saxon stock—and the greatest movement of British peoples to this Dominion was during the regime of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

WHO'S WHO IN HISTORY TO-DAY

THURSDAY, AUGUST 6

MATTHEW PARKER
English prelate, Archbishop of Canterbury, was born on August 6, 1504. He was vice-chancellor of Cambridge for several years, but on the accession of Mary Tudor to the throne he resigned. Parker's death, he was consecrated Archbishop of Canterbury, and devoted himself to the organization and discipline of the Church of England.

ANNE HATHAWAY
Wife of William Shakespeare, died on August 6, 1623, having survived him seven years. There is little definite information about her domestic life other than that there were three children. So far as is known, Anne did not leave her home in Stratford-on-Avon, and it is believed the dramatist and poet returned to her after spending twenty-three years in London and the provinces as an actor, a theatre manager, and writer of plays.

TENNYSON
(Alfred) celebrated English poet, was born on August 6, 1809. He succeeded Wordsworth as poet laureate, and was raised to the peerage as Baron Tennyson of Aldworth. He lived a secluded life, and died of old age, after a short and painless illness. He was buried in the Poets' Cemetery in Westminster Abbey. Among his best-known poems are "In Memoriam," "Locksley Hall," "Maud," "Morte d'Arthur," "Idylls of the King" and "Enoch Arden."

OVER 6000 AT LIBERAL PICNIC EVENT

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Premier Oliver and Dr. MacLennan in North Vancouver

No Hint Given of Date of Federal Election; Several Topics Discussed

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—Predictions of a Liberal victory in the next Federal election, but no hint as to the probable date of the election, were heard from speakers at the Liberal picnic yesterday afternoon in Mahon Park, North Vancouver. It was probably the largest political gathering in that city's history, between 6,000 and 7,000 being there.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, attended as the special representative of Premier King.

The speakers, devoted themselves entirely to an appeal for a united front, and although no word was dropped as to the election date, it was gathered from the general tone of the address that an early Federal campaign, for which they urged Liberals to be prepared.

PREMIER TO DECIDE
"Only one man knows if there has been any decision as to the election date and that man is Premier King," Mr. Motherwell said. "The final word rests with him, and until he speaks none of us will know anything about it."

Mr. Motherwell characterized the challenge of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen as so much "flamboyant camouflage," and declared the chance of the Conservatives were no better than in 1921.

The only reference made by the Minister to the question of election of railway freight rates was when he declared:

"As the grain belt of the great prairie region extends northward and westward, it is bound to become tributary to the Pacific coast. This natural tendency will undoubtedly be further facilitated by further reduction in freight rates, commensurate with the elimination of the mountain grades on the Canadian National Railway."

LOWER DUTIES
On the subject of the tariff, Mr. Motherwell instanced the mining industry as benefitted by the policy of the Government.

In a province of such great undeveloped forest and mineral wealth, he declared, the Government's general policy of lowering the tariff as much as possible on the implements of production, including the equipment necessary to develop the farms, the forests, the mines and the streams, must be equally beneficial to British Columbia as to the provinces.

"I recognize," he continued, "that while this is so, there are certain staple British Columbia farm products upon which you desire of an upward revision of the tariff, such as fruit, poultry and eggs. If this could be accomplished without increasing the cost of those products to the Canadian consumer, the problem would be easy of solution."

FRUIT INDUSTRY AIDED
In the meantime, and while this complex problem is being thought out, Mr. Motherwell said, through certain legislative enactments, and estimates in my own department important compensating assistance is being given the fruit industry in the establishment of pre-cooling and dehydrating plants at strategic points in the fruit areas. An additional $40,000 for the year appeared in the estimates of this year.

BALANCED BUDGETS
On the subject of trade, Mr. Motherwell said that since the advent of the King Government, Canada had twice balanced her budget, something that had not been accomplished for many years previously.

The Canadian dollar, he said, was once again "on the map."

"This," said Mr. Motherwell, "is one of the things which give my good friend, Mr. Meighen, his periodic cat fit."

"It is just as important to prairie provinces to ourselves that the ports of British Columbia should be kept open to the trade of the world."

PACIFIC TRADE
Premier Oliver spoke of British Columbia's campaign for equalization of railway freight rates.

"The key to the Pacific Railway problem is in the hands of the Federal Government," he said. "The Government alone can unlock that door."

GOOD BEGINNING
"This is the vision that I see, and child in British Columbia to see. It is not extravagant. We have every natural advantage and a good beginning. Successful issue of the agitation for equalization of railway freight rates, begun by Premier Oliver, and supported by the Liberal Party, and sympathetically received by the people of this province, is in sight, and will put us far on our way."

A heavy iron door, too weighty for a child to remove, covered the sewer entrance.

HOUGHTONS GIVEN CREDIT FOR PACT

U.S. Ambassador Said to Have Suggested European Agreement to Stresemann

Williamsstown, Mass., Aug. 6.—The members of the International Institute of Politics yesterday heard one of its lecturers declare that Alanson Houghton, recently United States Ambassador in Berlin, and now Ambassador in London, was the "spiritual author" of the security pact now pending between Great Britain, France and Germany.

Prof. Bernasconi E. Schmitt of the University of Chicago, made the statement at a conference on the recent foreign policy of the United States, in the course of a discussion after an address by Prof. Edwin F. Gay of Harvard.

"If one asks in well-informed circles," Prof. Schmitt said, "one is told that the present Ambassador of the United States in London, who in Berlin, was spiritual author of the negotiations now proceeding between Great Britain, France and Germany for a pact of security."

Prof. Schmitt supplemented his remarks after the conference with the statement that "certain persons in Europe had informed him that Ambassador Houghton had suggested to the German foreign minister, the idea of the security pact."

Institute members recalled that only last week, William F. Castle, chief of the Western European division of the State Department, gave his pronouncement on this country's foreign policy and included mention of the European pact. He said that while the United States could not become a party to the pact, President Coolidge had expressed his hope for its success.

ANIMATED DISCUSSIONS
The institute round-table conferences yesterday were the scenes of spirited debates. At that on mineral resources as a world factor, William R. Rappard of Geneva, a member of the Permanent Mandates Commission of the League of Nations, said he was amused and surprised at "red-blooded Americans let loose in Europe can achieve the same material success they achieve here."

"If that is true an important conclusion follows from it—that all that is necessary to solve Europe's problems is to let the Americans make it over for the profit of Europe and the United States," Mr. Rappard said.

"We Europeans who see United States people going about their business think they are inferior to the European forebears in their practice of economy. They are wasteful, less skill in handling various nationalities and varieties of people, and are less able in languages. We think in the many United States ventures in Europe which have come to failure, I am surprised at your optimism."

FOREIGN POLICIES
At the foreign policy table, the attitude of France toward the foreign policy of the United States was described by Robert Mason of Paris, a banker, who aided in drafting the Paris peace treaty and who served on a number of French missions to the United States.

"Your government seems divided between aloofness and concernness in foreign affairs," he began, ranging in public opinion from helplessness to boasting," he said.

"In fact the man who is for aloofness is generally for boasting. The real sacred egotism of the United States has been expressed by your countrymen as follows: 'How can we help France? We don't know how!'"

"If this country does not want to join the League of Nations there is no use telling you that you must. But the real sacred egotism lies in the forecasting and forestalling future events, not sitting in an armchair as you have done and being surprised when things come and shake you in your own home."

"France and the United States ought to reach an agreement in regard to tariffs. As regards international debts, a settlement was certain since you have in your creditor the will to pay and no idea of repudiation."

WASHINGTON WIDOW WANTS OTTAWA MAN

Writes Postmaster Asking Him to Aid in Search

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—A Spokane, Wash., widow, aged forty-two, having read there were few divorces in Ottawa, has written to the postmaster here asking his assistance in securing an Ottawa man for a husband. Her letter reads in part:

"I was reading in the papers of you having few divorces. It speaks well of your town and country. It must be the men are good, for I have met so many men and families from Ottawa, and they seem to be so nice, any of the men to their women."

"I would like to have a husband," writes the lady, "one about the age of forty-five to fifty, with some means to go into the chicken business, I have a small ranch. It would make a fine home and chicken ranch, eighty acres. I would like a good business man with some means."

"I am a widow forty-two years old. I don't want a drunkard. I like a 'jolly man'."

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, AUGUST 7

This day's misadventures point to unsettled and annoying conditions, with the prospect of removal, change or travel which may not prove of benefit. They may result in disappointments or obstacles, or be of a disruptive or disintegrating nature and of suddenly precipitated events. Those in the employment of others are possibly under a baneful influence and should be careful not to give offense to those over them lest they lose their positions.

Those whose birthday it is should avoid change, removal and important journeys. Those in the employment of others are likewise urged to see every precaution to safeguard their positions.

Those who are inclined to be restless and unsettled and probably will have a roving life, traveling far.

Remember the A.O.U.W. excursion to Seattle, August 8.

Holiday this season at Jasper National Park.

BONNIEMAN GIRL WAS ADOPTED BY MILLIONAIRE

Mary Louise Spas, Winner of Cinderella Race, Steps Into Wonderland

New York, Aug. 6.—The wonderland into which Mary Louise Spas, daughter of Bohemian immigrants, stepped yesterday when she was adopted by Edward A. Browning, millionaire realtor, today became a reality with its chief diversion an Arabian Nights' shopping tour. Neighbors of the Spas, in talks with reporters, today insisted that the girl was nearly twenty-one, than sixteen, as announced by Mr. Browning, had worked in the movies and was engaged to a dentist prior to her adoption.

Chinese Wed in City Yesterday

Ontario Bride Chosen by Local Man; Was Pretty Ceremony

A wedding of interest to many of the Chinese residents of Victoria took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the headquarters of the Chan Wing Chun Tong on Store Street, when Rev. C. H. Lam, Methodist Chinese missionary, united in marriage Chan Quon Bo of Amherstburg, Ontario, and Quon Yey Wei of Victoria.

The bride, wearing a white silk gown, heavily embroidered, and the conventional wedding veil with wreath of orange blossoms pitched in place, was given in marriage by Mrs. Lee. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses. Miss Lillie Chan acted as bridesmaid and while dressed in a pink silk frock, and the little Misses Esther Chan and Gim Chan, dressed in white voile, were the flower girls.

The groom was supported by Mr. Chan. On the entrance of the bride party for the ceremony Miss Edith Koo played a wedding march. The marriage service of the Methodist Church was used but in the Chinese translation.

Following the ceremony the assembled guests congratulated the happy couple prior to the serving of refreshments.

Later a Chinese custom was observed, when the groom and men of the party adjourned to the Pekin restaurant and the bride and women to the Toy Hing restaurant. After finishing their repast, and after toasts had been drunk, they proceeded, headed by the bride, for the Pekin restaurant, when on entering they were greeted by the groom and his guests.

After a honeymoon spent in motor-trip up the Island, Mr. and Mrs. Chan Quon Bo will leave for Ontario, where they will reside.

W. J. Winter was released on suspended sentence from the city police court yesterday, his previous clean conduct being the point in his favor which won for him the leniency of Magistrate George Jay. ## DELEGATE ELECTED TO ATTEND OTTAWA LABOR CONFERENCE

R. W. Nunn to Represent Trades and Labor Council at Forthcoming Congress

Investigations made by the Trades and Labor Council brought out the information that for $7 per long ton of 2,240 pounds delivered to consumers at $18.50 per ton. It was, however, pointed out that it might be difficult for the Trades and Labor Council to obtain an agency.

There was some discussion by several delegates on the alleged discrimination in giving employment to taxpayers. Assertions were made that non-taxpayers are being employed in certain departments and that men who are losing their homes through tax delinquency are unable to obtain employment, although Mayor Penney, it was stated, assured the president that old men who were property owners would be given preference.

The somewhat strained relations existing between the Trades and Labor Council and the Workmen's Compensation Board appeared to be a fair way to be smoothed out.

E. H. Winn, chairman of the board, has given assurances that he will meet and discuss several controversial cases on his next visit to the city.

A resolution was passed by the Council commending the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce in the matter of a fair way to be smoothed out.

RACE BETS, AFTER BRIEF RISE, SHOW LARGE DROP AGAIN

Lansdowne Wagers Far Below Those of Last Year as New Meet Continues

Reductions Become Greater With Progress of B.C.'s Horse Racing Season

Wagers on British Columbia race tracks, after a fleeting increase Saturday, slumped away down again this week, taxation officials announced today when they released figures covering betting at the Lansdowne Park meet in Vancouver.

Monday's bets at Lansdowne totalled $92,648. This was a drop below the total of $96,781 on a corresponding day last season. On Tuesday the decrease was still more marked. Only $87,565 was bet then as compared with $111,093 on a corresponding day a year ago.

These figures appear to confirm the idea that the temporary increase in wagers noted Saturday was due to the large week-end crowds on the first day of the meet. Last year the opening day was Monday, when bets naturally are relatively low.

Government taxation on Monday's wagers totals $4,516 and on those of Tuesday, $4,285.

C.N.R. PRESIDENT PLANS TO SPEND WEEK-END HERE

Sir Henry Thornton Coming to Talk Business Saturday, Then Golf

He will meet local business interests and discuss elevator and outdoor docks problems Saturday morning. During the rest of his week-end stay here, he plans to be found mostly on the golf links. Sir Henry will go to Vancouver to open the new Canadian National radio station, CNRV, there Tuesday at the C.N.R. station.

NOT BUILDING HOTEL AT VANCOUVER

Kamloops, B.C., Aug. 6.—On his arrival here, Sir Henry W. Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, issued the following statement to the press in regard to recent reports:

"There have lately been dispatched from Ottawa reports relating to the Canadian National Railways so expressed as to give to the unwary a semblance of authority. These reports are admittedly worded and deliberately framed for the purpose of exciting apprehension in the public mind and lack of confidence in the affairs of the Canadian National Railways. It is both significant and obvious that no attempt is made to secure verification from the company prior to the publication of such special dispatches, and it is to be regretted that any journal priding itself upon the accuracy of its news should publish such rumors without at least some effort to establish their authenticity.

"The sources of such reports are known to the railway administration and have been so clumsy as to excite no other feeling than pity.

"The most recent attempt has been the publication of a report that the Canadian National Railways intend building or are about to connive in the building of a large hotel in Vancouver, accompanied by the usual thinly veiled innuendo. Suffice it to say that the company has no intention at present of embarking upon any such enterprise anywhere, and the whole dispatch was a fabrication.

"The public should be warned that no doubt other and similar attempts at intervals will emanate from the same sources at Ottawa, and should be received with great reserve. When important policies are decided or steps taken by the company of interest to the public, proper announcement will invariably be made from the general offices by accredited officers."

Elk Lake Cannot Longer Retain Tax Free Status

"The City can no longer advance, with any color of justice, claims that Elk Lake is being retained tax free because of possible usage as a watershed," was the comment Reeve Robert Macdonald of Nanaimo made this morning upon the announced expropriation of the Goldstream waterworks by City Water Commissioner Preston.

"It is my opinion that the best thing for the city to do will be to make haste and make Saanich a reasonable offer for water. It is a certainty that, if we fail to do this, the Legislature will withdraw the tax exemption on Elk Lake property."

SUCCESS OF BIG LIBERAL PICNIC PLEASES CABINET

Members of the Provincial Government who attended the Liberal picnic in North Vancouver yesterday returned here today delighted with the success of the great party rally. Nearly 10,000 people enjoyed the outing, according to estimates made during the day and the lengthy programme proved acceptable to everyone.

"It was one of the finest gatherings I have ever seen and its enthusiasm was very gratifying to the Liberal workers who arranged it," said Hon. J. D. Maclean, Minister of Finance, who was one of the prominent Liberals present at the affair.

The size of the crowds was really astounding.

Premier Oliver headed the Government party which attended the picnic. He left today for a ten-day inspection of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which was one of the prominent Liberals present at the affair.

Cloudy weather at Kamloops, however, made forestry officials hope today that rain would follow later this week. Only an improvement in the weather can halt many of the conflagrations sweeping through rich timber on the Coast now.

COURT DEFERS COLLEY CASE TO SEPTEMBER

Must Wait Until After Vacation to Renew Battle of Parties

Mr. Justice Murphy this morning stood the case of King vs. Colley over until the first session of the Supreme Court Chambers after vacation in September. H. B. Robinson, K.C., applied to amend his statement of claim so that it would not be covered by the first action brought against Mr. Colley, Liberal member for Kamloops, in the Provincial House, in the case of Drake vs. Colley. This action, Mr. Maclean pointed out was dismissed by Justice McDonald in Kamloops.

Unless it is possible to prove collusion in the first action, and that it was instigated by party supporters prior to the publication of the special dispatches, H. A. Maclean, K.C., argued that this second action fails flat. The right of the common informer has been exhausted by the judgment of the Kamloops court on the earlier case, and in this second action there is no justification, he claimed.

Pattullo Returns From B.C. Interior

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—Back from a visit to the interior on departmental business, Hon. T. D. Pattullo is in Vancouver and has just returned from Oliver, the scene of a government irrigation project.

About 1,500 of the 12,000 acres at Oliver have been sold and a large proportion of that is under successful cultivation, for Mr. Pattullo explained, it was purchased for development and speculation. Some 140 acres are in tomatoes and the canneries will be in operation in a week.

Mr. Pattullo says the prospect for a successful canning season is better than last year.

CHINESE LIQUOR CASE DISMISSED

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—Branding the case as a "low down plant," Magistrate J. S. Jamieson, in police court today, dismissed a charge against Ah Soo, pretty Chinese waitress, of selling liquor to Oriental operatives of the provincial police.

In summing up the evidence on the case, Magistrate Jamieson made it clear that he did not lay the "plant" to the door of the provincial police authorities.

It was alleged that Ah Soo had sold a quantity of beer and whisky to three Chinese operatives when they visited the Pender Street cafe where she was employed. Bottles, alleged to contain the liquors in question, were produced as exhibits and were alleged to have been taken from the table after the alleged sale.

WATERWORKS STILL SAFE; SPURS SOOKE LAKE FIRE

Slight Improvement Reported to Forestry Service Here

New Fire Reported Above Malahat; Officials Hope For Better Weather

Slight improvement in the fire situation at Sooke Lake was reported to the forestry service here today, but information was meagre on account of the difficulty of telephone communication between the city and forest rangers in the field. The blaze, which is nearing Sooke Lake watershed timber, broke out of control last night when a fresh breeze fanned it into renewed life. So far it has not endangered the city's waterworks equipment at the lake or the pipe line running between the lake and Humbug Bay.

Additional fire fighters were rushed to the scene of the outbreak yesterday. More men are being sent into the Sooke Lake area today to bring relief to the exhausted fire fighters, who have been battling with the flames all this week. A trail-making party went into the woods Tuesday night to open up communication with the lake and has made some progress.

No direct information on the condition of the fire was available here this afternoon. The only news came in a telephone message from officials stationed at the city's waterworks plant at the outlet of the lake. They reported that the conflagration was burning furiously but that the pipe line and the waterworks equipment were still out of the danger zone.

Outbreak of another fire in the mountains above the Malahat Highway was reported last night but the precise location of this blaze had not been determined up to today. This is the fourth fire to break out close to Victoria this week, minor outbreaks at Langford Lake and Metcosh having been controlled during the last few days. Rangers have been dispatched to find out the position of the new fire and, if possible, to get it under control.

Cloudy weather at Kamloops, however, made forestry officials hope today that rain would follow later this week. Only an improvement in the weather can halt many of the conflagrations sweeping through rich timber on the Coast now.

PRETTY PRISONER VICTIM OF PLOT

Lum Yoke, Chinese Girl, is Being "Framed," Claims Defence

Maintaining that she was a victim of a plot to force her to leave Victoria and work in a restaurant in Vancouver, Lum Yoke, Chinese girl, appeared before Magistrate George Jay yesterday on a charge of selling liquor, and the case is continuing. The afternoon session of the court today. Witnesses for the prosecution will continue to give testimony. The defence witnesses had been called this morning.

It was some days before the witnesses necessary for the prosecution could be brought here, and the Lum Yoke case has been remanded from time to time. During the course of cross-examination objection was raised to Stuart Henderson's questioning. He explained that he was unearthing a plot alleged to have been conceived against the accused girl to force her to leave Victoria.

Lim Goo, one of the witnesses in the case, begged for the court's protection.

After hearing evidence, Magistrate Jamieson declared that it would be perfectly simple to get a bottle of liquor on to the table from a previously established cache.

"I am thoroughly convinced it was a plant and a low down plant. There is nothing against the girl in this case. The case is dismissed."

FRENCH-BRITISH DEBT DISCUSSION IS TO BE RESUMED

London, Aug. 6.—The question of the Allied debt to Great Britain was discussed briefly in the House of Commons yesterday, when Walter Edwards Guinness, Financial Secretary of the Treasury, in replying to a question asked by Mr. Guinness, said that the French debt, which had been interrupted by the return of the French experts to Paris, would be resumed in due course.

When a member asked if the negotiations had ended, as reported, in an "acrimonious breaking off," Mr. Guinness replied, "Nothing of the kind."

Mr. Guinness continued that a preliminary exchange of views had taken place with the Italian Government regarding Italy's debt to Great Britain. He said he understood Italy was framing proposals on that subject. He concluded that while not all the governments to which the recent British note was addressed had replied, he had no reason to suppose any of them would raise any difficulties with regard to the principles enunciated in that note as a fundamental basis for any debt settlement.

MAN LOST LIFE

Los Angeles, Aug. 6.—Max A. Levinson, forty-eight, was burned to death in his bathroom yesterday behind a door that had jammed and prevented his rescue by neighbors. Levinson was running water for a bath when the water heater exploded. The flames spread through out the apartment, driving the would-be rescuers to the street and doing damage estimated at $10,000.

Large Crops To Place Millions In Circulation In Canada This Fall

Investment Banker and Bond Expert of Victoria By ROBERT S. MABEE

With every probability of an unusually heavy and profitable crop much interest is focussed on the West.

There are various estimates as to what the returns from this source will be, one opinion placing it in excess of $200,000,000 more than last year. It is too early yet to treat the garnering of the grain as a certainty, but discounting any contingencies which may arise, there is every assurance of a profitable year for the agriculturists. From half to three-quarters of a billion dollars may be put into circulation, and this cannot have any but a stimulating effect upon Canadian business generally.

No matter how, at times, Western ideas may be at variance to opinions and policies advocated in Eastern Canada, the present state of affairs in the West warrants careful study. After all, Western Canada is the main engaged in the most fundamental of all great industries, and is, perhaps, the source of our greatest developed and potential wealth.

In the prairie provinces grain growing will always predominate, but there has been a very healthy and necessary expansion in mixed farming, which naturally leads to a greater degree of stability in agriculture than when the farmer is at the mercy of the vagaries of the market for one particular crop. While in a good wheat or wool year, for instance, extensive wheat and sheep farms will reap large profits, it is by no means uncertain that, over a period of years, the farmer with a diversity of products will do at least equally well. Mixed farming undoubtedly fosters a sounder and thrifter life, and a more balanced outlook generally, for those engaged in it.

On the Pacific Coast, for some time past, there has been evidence of increased activity. It is true that some betterment could be desired in the lumbering industry, but fishing has shown improvement and mining is active. Fruit prospects are not altogether satisfactory.

Vancouver and Victoria, the main ports for the export of Canadian products to the Far East, have already found it necessary to increase their facilities and are considering adequate provision for the future. The Eastern market, so far as Canada is concerned, has scarcely been tapped, and there seems no reason why, at no very remote date, such a port as Vancouver should not be exceedingly active with shipping plying between Australia, Japan, China and the many markets of the East. Trade with Australia and Japan, particularly, should be capable of enormous development.

Above all, the West seems now to be imbued with the healthy spirit of optimism which is not unfounded, and optimism will ever aid in the accomplishment of greater things than can be brought about by a gloomy outlook.

The financial situation in the Western provinces has greatly improved. Provincial Governments are exercising more circumspection in borrowing and are making determined efforts to reduce their debts and keep their expenditures well in hand. It will, perhaps, take some little time to dispel the unsavory effect of defaults by certain municipalities in the past, but with a greater measure of supervision and restraint there is no good reason why Western Canada should, financially, continue to be regarded in the Eastern provinces with the suspicion that has sometimes been in evidence. Certainly Western Provincial Government bonds should be regarded favorably as to security by investors, say, in Quebec or Ontario. Canada is now too great and too solidly welded as one country for these bonds to be regarded as in any way doubtful. Default in its direct obligations by any Canadian province is inconceivable.

After all, the key to a prosperous future must lie in co-operation between and co-ordination of the interests of the various units which make up a united Canada. While the treatment of Canadian problems to the fullest benefit of each part of the country presents many difficulties, a more thorough study of conditions and a broader and more tolerant view of the difficulties in provinces other than the particular one in which we may happen to reside, might guard us from a narrowness which is unpatriotic and may in the end be the cause of our missing great opportunities.

Recently one of the leading men of the West pointed out that many more people travel to Eastern Canada to study affairs than come from the East to make themselves familiar with conditions in the West. There should be a much more general interchange of ideas and gathering of first-hand information by travel from East to West and vice versa. Such intercourse could not fail to be mutually advantageous and, consequently, of great benefit to Canada as a whole. It would go far toward breaking down the existing barrier of misunderstanding and want of knowledge, in erecting which neither East nor West is blameless. It would enable us more easily to treat our industrial problems from a Canadian point of view—the only point of view possible if we would take full and complete advantage of the vast resources with which Nature has so bountifully endowed our Dominion from coast to coast.

NEW ROAD GRANT SCHEME

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Final decision of all Ontario counties except Peterborough to accept the new scheme of road classification which was made available by Legislation of the last session of the provincial house was announced today at the Parliament Buildings. The new classification of roads throughout the province substitutes a system of fifty per cent grant to country roads in place of the former grants of forty to sixty per cent. It will mean a greater drain upon the Government subsidies, Hon. W. H. Henry estimating the increase at about $250,000 annually.

MAN KILLED BY FALL

Seattle, Aug. 6.—Word was received here today of the death of Theodore Teebe, a piano teacher of this city, in a fall from on Grand Teton Mountain, Wyoming, while on a trip to Yellowstone Park with Mr. and Mrs. Young of Portland.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and the Red Spots

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis)

"Come, Scooter! Come, Tootie! Where are you?" called the rabbit mother of these two small bunny boys in the hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Oh, Mother! Do we have to go to school?" cried Tootie, hardly half awake.

"Vacation isn't over yet; is it?" Tootie wanted to know, and he stretched and yawned in bed beside his brother until you could hardly understand what he was saying.

"No, vacation isn't over," answered Uncle Wiggly's new wife who had brought forty seven little bunny boys and girls for Mr. Longears to adopt and take care of. "Vacation isn't over and the school, taught by the lady mouse in the hollow stump, hasn't opened. But this is the day your new Daddy takes you to the woods to give you lessons in how to tell apart a nut from a pepper, and to teach you how to keep out of traps and other danger. Come along now, bunny boys! Scooter and Tootie no longer lay abed. Up they jumped and down the banister railing of the stairs they slid after their bath to see breakfast. For they liked nothing better than to go to the woods with Uncle Wiggly.

"Oh, ha!" growled the Bear.

"This morning I shall go with you," said Mrs. Longears, and then Scooter and Tootie were more happy than ever. Nurse Jane Fussy Wussy, the kind muskrat lady housekeeper, remained at home with the other little rabbits, who would be taken to the woods another day.

Uncle Wiggly hopped along with his two little bunnies and his new wife, stopping now and then to point out different trees and bushes.

"This," said Uncle Wiggly, stopping in front of a tangled vine on a tree, "this is the honeysuckle. Down deep in each flower is a drop of sweet honey. Only butterflies or humming birds, with their long, slender tongues or bills, can reach down and get the honey. Though if you bunnies pick a blossom and suck the lower end, you can taste the sweet juice."

Tooter and Scooter did this, though there was such a little honey in each blossom that it never would have stopped them from being hungry.

"But we can give this little Lady Bug some of the honeysuckle juice," said Uncle Wiggly, pointing to a small, red insect crawling on the top of a flower. "She can not reach down the flower and get any, but we can pull off some of the blossoms and let the juice run out for her."

So Uncle Wiggly and the bunny boys did this, and the dainty little Lady Bug sipped the sweet honey juice.

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggly," she murmured. "I am getting the measles! I must have caught the red spotted measles and they are breaking out on me! Oh, I've got to go home to my den and get in bed. I'll nibble you some other time, Uncle Wiggly!"

And away lumbered the bear, and as he went a cloud of red Lady Bugs flew up in the air over his head. "Ha! Ha!" laughed the Lady Bugs. "We made the red spots on the Bear, Uncle Wiggly, to fool him and make him think he had the measles. We came to thank you for the honeysuckle juice and we saw the Bear so we alighted on him—all over his million red spots, and frightened him."

"Well, thank you, I'm glad you did," said the bunny. Then the Lady Bugs flew back to sip more honey from the blossoms on the tree, and Mr. Longears and the bunnies hopped home. And if the angel cake doesn't try to fly out of the oven before its baked and make the radio laugh, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Nipper's trick.

SUTHERLAND HINTS AT HIGHER COST OF B.C. ROAD SYSTEM

Kamloops, B.C., Aug. 6.—In an address before the Rotary Club here yesterday Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, intimated that with increasing traffic upon the highways of the Province the time was at hand when the taxpayer would either have to contribute more for the maintenance of roads or be satisfied with indifferent roads. A recent check up on Westminster Bridge, Dr. Sutherland said, counted 25,000 cars crossing in one week. He said the Fraser Canyon Highway was seventy-five per cent completed and would be open early next Summer.

The Minister was of the opinion that freight rates as between the East and West would be on a practically equal basis in the near future.

STARTED AT 10 P.M.

Communication was first established last night with the expedition about 10 o'clock.

"Station WAP—Etah," said the announcer, whose voice seemed to be another of a snowdrift—and the remainder of his voice was lost in an indistinguishable mumbled monotone. Shortly thereafter a squawish, somewhat clearer tone came through and finally was recognized as phonographic music.

Beginning at midnight, Eastern Standard Time, the radio code was resorted to, with Station 8XN calling WAP and McDonald answering "OK, McDonald."

It was explained to him that the Associated Press wished to interview him and he acknowledged consent. Within twenty minutes thereafter the interview was complete. Five questions and answers totalling about 300 words were exchanged by those aboard the Peard and the interviewer.

THE CONVERSATION

The questions and answers as recorded were:

"What point and greatest distance you have heard or transmitted a human voice by radio would be of interest to the Associated Press newspapers."

"I have heard code from New Zealand; have worked code England, France, Holland, Sweden and Catalina Island. Heard voice Chicago and Schenectady in daylight; transmitted voice and have been reported heard in Seattle, New England and London."

USED BY MISSIONARY

"Have missionaries begun using radio receivers and what do they say about them?"

"We have only one missionary using radio, the Rev. Peritt, Hopdale, Labrador, who has been to his home in London only three times in thirty-two years, gets mail seldom and says radio is great boon. I presented missionaries with sets."

"Is the Eskimo guide Itookasu with you?" (Itookasu was a guide with Peary and with MacMillan on a previous expedition.)

"Itookasu is with us."

"Will it be possible to reach your planes by radio?" (Referring to the three aeroplanes carried by the expedition in its attempt to reach the North Pole.)

TO OVERCOME DIFFICULTY

"Have difficulty in maintaining two-way communication with planes, but expect to eradicate this."

"Does Eskimo fully appreciate radio concerns?"

"He just accepts it as another great work of the white man and to him it is not more wonderful than the phonograph."

With that the interview ended.

PRESBYTERIANS ARE RAPIDLY ORGANIZING

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Forty-three of the fifty sections of the Continuing Presbyterian Church have completed their organization, appointed officials, filled vacant pulpits and are grouping into congregations. The Presbyterian minorities in the United Church congregations, Rev. J. W. MacNamara, clerk of the General Assembly, stated today.

The Toronto Evening Telegram says leaders in the Presbyterian Church are highly satisfied with the progress made in the organization of the church courts and minority groups throughout Canada.

Reports show to date 150 self-supporting congregations, 150 organized minority groups and in addition a large number of minority groups yet to be placed on a self-supporting basis.

BRAND TO VISIT LONDON NEXT WEEK

Paris, Aug. 6.—Foreign Minister Briand plans to go to London next Monday to confer with Foreign Secretary Chamberlain on the proposed security pact with Germany. It was learned today. The conference of the two Foreign Ministers is expected to take place Tuesday. M. Briand probably will remain in England two days.

NEW ALBERTA SETTLERS

Edmonton, Aug. 6.—Setting the highest monthly record in nearly three years, 169 homesteads and 13 soldier grants, a total of 131 quarter sections, were filed upon at the Federal land office here in the month of July. This exceeded last month's record, which was an unusually high one, by ten, and is better than the mark for July of last year by nine. Figures for the corresponding month of a year ago showing 96 homesteads and six soldier grants filed upon.

LAURA LA PLANTE
UNIVERSAL'S LATEST
LEAD TO BE STARRER

Sherwood Forest, on the famous Matheson Ranch, fifty miles from Universal City, where the spectacular fox hunt of "A Lady of Quality" was filmed, was again the scene of screen production during the filming of "Excitement," the Universal picture now at the Columbia Theatre.

Laura La Plante and a big company, under the direction of Robert Hill, worked several days on the outdoor scenes of the picture which marks Miss La Plante's introduction to the screen under her new starring contract. Originally written for another's use, it was assigned to Miss La Plante on the decision of Universal heads to promote to stardom their most promising actress.

The story is a novel of quality, relating the adventures of a bride who has a craze for undergoing sensational experiences. Horseback rides, leaps over cliffs, sensational airplane tricks and hair-raising auto stunts cram the picture, forming the background for a hilarious series of adventures.

TOM MIX PREPARED TO LIVE UP TO HIS REPUTATION AS STAR

In discussing "The Rainbow Trail," which Mix has made from Zane Grey's novel, and which plays at the Capitol Theatre all this week, the William Fox star gave an insight into his thoughts.

"Boys and girls," said Mix, "have placed me on a sort of pedestal, although that angle may not have occurred to you, and I must live up to their idea of me. To be fair to the kiddies who have done so much for me, my pictures must not in any way reflect the objectionable. My own actions must be beyond reproach. As a small boy I copied Buffalo Bill. To-day the small boy emulates me, and I've got to be the right kind of man."

"This means not only that my actions in the pictures must be above criticism, but I must live my own life in the same clean way."

"A kid has faith in me. I rejoice in that confidence, and I am not going to do anything to forfeit it. It's a great thing to realize that a whole army of young boys believe in you. It's a fine responsibility and I accept it gladly."

"TEN COMMANDMENTS"
LOSES NONE OF ITS FORCE BY REPETITION

Some books are read, and then thrown away. Some pictures are seen, and then forgotten. The life of an ordinary movie—the society drama or comedy, is about two years. Classics of literature like "Hamlet" and Emerson's "Essay on Compensation" live throughout generations and are read again and again. "The Ten Commandments" has a theme so great, a sweep so large, and is so elaborately produced that it is one of the small group of films which will never die. As a fine book can be read over and over again, so a picture like this can be looked at more than once without losing its flavor.

FOUR ACES MADE
FRIENDS AT TENNIS
COURTS IN SOUTH

Four "aces" met on the Thomas H. Ince lot during the filming of "Christine of the Hungry Heart," the new Thomas H. Ince First National production now at the Coliseum Theatre.

They were Miss Florence Vidor, "ace" of the silver screen who is one of the featured players in "Christine," Bill Tilden and Alfred Chin, "aces" of the tennis world, and Annette Kellerman, "ace" of water sports.

As a result of the meeting a tennis match was arranged and the four "played it out" to the applause of a gallery of picture players.

HARD WORK LED TO SUCCESS ON SILVER
SCREEN FOR LYON

Ben Lyon, who is featured with Anna Q. Nilsson in "One Way Street," a First National picture which is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, is an example of the axiom that hard work pays. In Europe a long apprenticeship before becoming an established actor, Ben became famous in a little more than a year. Almost overnight he has become one of the most popular of western celebrities. Practically unknown twelve months ago, to-day his name is a household word, and the extent of his fan mail is unexcelled by any other player. However, Ben will tell you confidently that there was a lot of hard work involved in the ascent of the ladder of success.

ORCHESTRA AT DOMINION TO-NIGHT

As a music treat for Dominion Music Lovers' Night, an augmented orchestra under the direction of Al Prescott will render the original score to the showing of the feature attraction, "The Ten Commandments." The score is replete with dramatic and orchestral climax, interwoven with rich melodies, that will be well worth hearing. Miss Ethel Codd, the new Canadian soprano, who is delighting Dominion audiences with her song selections, will be heard to much advantage in her new numbers, "Boy of Mine" and "For You and Me," which she is singing, with pleasing effect.

DO THIS AFTER SEVERE ILLNESS

How To Speedily Gain Strength and Put on Needed Weight

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamins extracted from the livers of the common codfish to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

So nowadays, medical men who keep up with times are ordering a tablet containing the vitamins that give to frail folk vigor, strength and weight—a tablet that is known as McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablet—and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after any severe illness.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often taken on five pounds in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist will return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

Great for weak, skinny backward, run-down children, too, and gives them the hearty appetite.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Extract Tablet. Vancouver Drug Co., MacFarlane Drug Co. and the Owl Drug Co. has a big demand for them and millions are sold monthly all over North and South America. They are sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. 60 Tablets—60 cents.

STUDENTS' CONCERT AT HIGH SCHOOL

Interesting Programme Arranged To-night Marking Close of Summer School

By G.J.D.

For the past year or so a demonstration vocal class of "recommended" children from the local public schools of varying ages and from the different grades (Music Supervisor H. J. Follard, of the schools), has been included in the Summer school activities now drawing to a close at this high school. This class is, and has been, under the skilful direction of Frederick Waddington, the conductor of the famous Esquimaux School Choir, and at a rehearsal given yesterday in preparation for a programme to be given this evening (Thursday) at the high school, some wonderful examples were a manifest of what this conductor can accomplish in the short space of three weeks' tuition. The programme of the Esquimaux "regular" choir in connection with his children's vocal classes, and no wonder. He seems to get the child's attention always maintained throughout the course. His interesting manner of imparting his requirements in attaining rhythmic effects, perfectness in enunciation, and the forte and pianissimo utterances all become a delight to the young forces. All seem intensely interested, and, consequently, excellent results are quickly obtained, a programme is carefully studied, even surprise, is created among the listeners to these classes. Such will be the case to-night, and the Esquimaux choir, chosen by Mr. Waddington are sure to redound to the credit of all concerned and prove thoroughly enjoyable to all who attend. The programme of both Junior and Senior Classes is as follows:

Junior:—The French folk song, "Man in the Moon"; "An Old English Nursery Rhyme"; "The Farmers' Man" (a pedlar's street cry); the old nursery rhyme, "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe" (set to modern music); and one of Brahms' cradle songs, all sung by over thirty children.

Senior:—"Blessed Are the Pure in Heart" (the Temple Choir, one of London's best choirs recently sang this beautiful number by the composer, William Byrd); "Trees" (beautiful poetry wedded to good music); "Po' Lil Lamb" (a delightful negro mangle song by the power of "A Perfect Day"); "The Golden Day is Dying" (a superb setting by Selim Palmgren, the Norwegian composer, whose lovely "Woodland Madrigal" (by Batten, a modern composer but typically madrigal). Dorothy Morton will officiate as accompanist.

Another short musical programme will be given during the evening by another class under the tuition of the teacher at the Vancouver Normal School, this will include two numbers, "How God Made the Daisies" (Cyril Jenkins), and the unison song, "Laugh" by Bernard Elliott.

Assisting in this programme will be two soloists from Vancouver, Mrs. Wilcox, A.T.C.M., in three numbers by Harlan: (a) "The Joy of Singing"; (b) "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair"; (c) "Finale from Symphony in C." (Kipling-Speaks); Miss McAllister will introduce this group of numbers.

The Hon. Dr. J. D. McLean, Minister of Education, and S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Education, will be present and will give short addresses.

There will also be "folk dances" by students of the Folk Dancing Class and pupils of the Demonstration School. The proceeds of the concert will be donated to the Oatard Orchestra has been engaged.

DANDURAND MAY BE NEW LEAGUE HEAD

Canadian Senator Mentioned as President of World Body During September Meeting

If Elected in Geneva He Will Be First Man of Dominions so Honored

Geneva, Aug. 6.—Senator Raoul Dandurand, chief Canadian delegate, is being prominently mentioned for the presidency of the Assembly of the League of Nations, which will begin its sessions here September 7.

Denmark has requested the secretariat of the League to place on the programme for the September session a project for the creation of a Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague.

The first reaction in the League of Nations circles to the Danish proposal is that it represents an attempt by neutral states to remove from the Council of the League of Nations the exercise of jurisdiction, which hitherto has formed a notable feature of the Council's activities, and place it under the jurisdiction of the world court, which would appoint conciliators in any dispute.

FIRST OCCASION

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—News that Senator R. Dandurand, one of Canada's delegates to the League of Nations, may be chosen as president of the Assembly when it meets next month in Geneva is received with pleasure here.

Should Senator Dandurand be selected, it will be the first time a representative of one of the Dominions of the British Empire has occupied the presidential seat at a League meeting. Last year a Swissland furnished the president and prior to that representatives of Chile and Ecuador were chosen.

The decision of the president is the second item on the programme of the assembly, which is to open September 7.

Sensor Dandurand was senior Canadian representative at the meeting of the Assembly last year and has several times participated in European meeting of the Inter-parliamentary Association.

SERIAL STORY

"THE LOVE CYCLE"

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

Manfield kept a grip on his self control. He said still very quietly: "And you really believe that your unsupported word would prove very damaging to me? Come, man, be sensible."

"Unsubstantiated?" the other man strode over to the desk where Manfield had written the check for Dora Davidson at her request. It lay there with the ink scarcely dry.

He held it up for Manfield to see, his eyes watching the effect narrowly.

"There have been several more of these, I saw them in my wife's purse. What have you got to say now, Mr. Manfield?"

Manfield knew then that he had walked blindly into the trap which Dora Davidson had spread for him.

THE PRICE OF SILENCE

Manfield walked the street the most of that night, his brain in chaos. His thoughts went round and round in a circle from which there seemed no outlet.

He knew now that he was caught in one of the blackest situations any man could devise for the torture of another human being. As completely innocent as he was of even a suggestion of a love affair with Dora Davidson, he had committed the indecorable folly of allowing his interest in her mode of life and the companions that gathered around her to blind him to the possibility of disaster.

The man who called himself her husband had reminded him of all that. He had outlined very briefly and clearly just what the world would interpret Manfield's visits. Even if his checks were not there for evidence, Manfield realized fully the absurdity of even trying to explain that he had acted foolishly or trustingly as a result of Harrison's injunction to help Dora if she were in difficulties.

And now he faced destruction, the loss of his wife and home and reputation—perhaps even of his business if his father-in-law should learn the story.

There was only one way out apparently, a way that Dora Davidson's so-called husband pointed out. It was money to keep the affair quiet. Manfield had heard a great deal about the blackmail game. He knew that its victim pays and pays, that there is never an end, that after he had been bled until he can bleed no more he is frequently betrayed, and in the end, all his anguish and his money had been wrong from him in vain.

While he walked the streets that night, he swore again and again that he would not be a victim. He was no weak, cowardly creature who would with fear before the threats of an evil, little runt like Dora Davidson's husband. He would fight, he told himself. He would risk exposure.

Let the man do the worst he could. In the end he might do nothing. It might be all a bluff, or Dora herself might persuade him to drop the game.

But in his heart, Manfield knew that it was bravado on his part. He dared not risk exposure, and to look for pity or for decency from Dora was now an absurdity. The very fact that she had sent for him and asked for a loan and had left the check on the desk for the eyes of the man whose visit had apparently been nicely timed, was conclusive proof that she and her so-called husband played their game together. He understood now why she had the air of mystery, why she drifted from place to place and never told about her past, why she surrounded herself with wealthy, restless men, most of them married and wandering in the forbidden pastures. No doubt she played the game in every city as long as each poor devil could be made—and then moved on to search for a fresh victim.

Dawn was coming when Manfield finally returned home with his brain in torment.

He hoped Helen would be asleep, that he could not have the added ordeal of facing her accusations, but his hopes sank as he climbed the stairs and saw the light burning in the bedroom door.

When he pushed open the door with a sigh of resignation, he faced not his amazement, not an angry, accusing wife, but a tearful, frightened one.

Helen was sitting in the centre of the bed, huddled up with her knees under her chin, shivering with cold and nerves. A blanket was half-wrapped around her shoulders, her hair was dishevelled and her face tear stained. She was almost ugly and quite without charm, but the eyes she raised at Manfield's entrance were so filled with devotion that a pang, sharp as a sword thrust, went through his heart.

He reached the bed in two strides and gathered her, blanket and all, into his arms. She clung to him sobbing.

"Oh, I have been so frightened! You did not come and you did not come, and it got later and later and I imagined all sorts of terrible things that could have happened to you. I saw you dead and buried a thousand times and I saw myself all alone with a child. Oh, Dad, I love you! I love you! I love you! Don't ever leave me like this again!"

With her close in his arms, over her dishevelled head, he faced the new dawn that was lighting the window pane and took up the burden that he must carry for Helen's sake.

His first act that morning was to send for the man who called himself Dora Davidson's husband and pay him the price of silence.

MORE CHANGES

Several years passed bringing great changes in the lives of the people who had formed the triumvirate of Weston, Marlowe and Manfield.

The Weston Motor Co. had become prosperous and Weston was many times a millionaire. The big motor factory occupied a tremendous territory in the centre of the city.

Mrs. Weston had died and Weston, despite his wealth, continued to live modestly in the same house he had occupied on the night when the Weston Motor Co. was launched by himself and Marlowe and Manfield.

He refused to live with his son-in-law and Helen, in spite of the latter's urging. He was never lonely and always taciturn. He grew more so with the years. He became harder and harder, more relentless, more indomitable of will; his employees respected him outwardly, but at heart they feared and hated him sometimes. He drove them with a whip-hand, permitted few concessions and was rarely generous even in the face of distress or misfortune.

Henry Manfield, as his son-in-law, received no favors. He worked ceaselessly for all that he had. He was a rich man now, but he did not relax his efforts. He needed all his money, for his expenses had become tremendous. He had given Helen the handsome townhouse she wanted. There was a place in the city for Helen's use, as many servants as she desired, excellent private schools for the children and a governess for the baby.

Helen, feeling that with the three children, she had discharged her maternal duty, had turned to society for diversion. She was fast becoming a social leader and she spent money recklessly for clothes and jewels and entertainment.

Besides all this, Manfield had another source of income. His friendship with Dora Davidson was costing him more and more dearly. He never saw her now, but the man who called himself her husband came regularly to collect the price of his silence.

There was no fixed time for payment and sometimes months passed without any demand being made up on Manfield. He would take hope, then and try to believe that he had paid in full, but sooner or later came a fresh demand, and as his income increased, so the amount of hush money increased in proportion. It seemed as though the blackmailer had some secret means of ascertaining his victim's wealth.

Manfield now paid stoically. He had come to accept the situation as an eternal burden from which only Death could release him. He had dared tell no one of his trouble or to ask advice. Harrison had never returned to town. Manfield heard vaguely that when his wife had died, he had been lured to the Orient again.

Manfield's mother was dead now. He was thankful that her later years were happy, that he had had the money to make her comfortable, that she had never suspected the disastrous end of his first and only adventure. Both of his sisters were married and lived in California. He rarely saw them or heard from them. Sometimes, in his brief moments of leisure, when Helen was not demanding his presence at some social function, he would sit with his pipe before the library fire and think about the old days while his father still lived, and he was a youth without cares or responsibilities, a slim college and making good in some profession, of traveling, seeing old world culture, meeting interesting people and seeing strange places. He would think sometimes of Helen when he had courted her, the pretty wild rose creature to whom he had given his first real kiss.

At other times, while his memories were upon him, he would try to recall Jane Marlowe, but the thought of her was elusive. She had been very young when he saw her last—that day when he had gone with his mother to call—and Helen had been so infuriated because he had not observed the feud.

All he could remember of Jane was a slim, quiet girl with strange yellow eyes that had an arresting charm. He wondered what had happened to her, what life had done with her, whether she had married and found happiness or whether she had drifted, disappointed like himself, not unhappy actually in his domestic life, but feeling a restless sense of something missing.

No one in town had heard of the Marlowes since the day they left and the famous case of Marlowe-Weston was dismissed by the court. They had been swallowed up by a strange, unfriendly, indifferent world, it seemed. People who remembered them and discussed them, supposed it was their pride and their bitterness over lost glory which prevented them ever from returning or even communicating with old acquaintances.

It was with bewilderment, therefore, that Manfield, who had accepted the chairmanship of a big charity drive and applied through an agency for a temporary secretary, found his first applicant to be a girl with strangely beautiful eyes who reminded him of Jane Marlowe.

But she gave her name as Mrs. Haynes and there was no recognition in her eyes.

HER NERVES BETTER NOW

Received Much Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I started to get weak after my second child was born, and kept on getting worse until I could not do my own housework, and was so bad with my nerves that I was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me a whole year before I was able to do my washing again. Through a friend I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it. I gave birth to a baby boy the 4th day of September, 1922. I am still doing my own work and washing. Of course, I don't feel well every day because I don't get my rest as the baby is so cross. But when I get my rest I feel fine. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and am going to keep on with it until cured. My nerves are a lot better since taking it. I can stay alone day or night and not be the least frightened. You can use this letter as a testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. CHAS. CARSON, 27 Forsythe St., Chatham, Ont.
